JOHN H. PATTERSON GIVES 1,000 OF HIS EMPLOYES FREE TRANSPORTATION TO THE WORLD'S FAIR

N. C. R. Factory.

Company at Dayton, O., has decided to send to the World's Fair at his own exense 1,000 of his employes in the great factory. Mr. Patterson has just finished two weeks at the Fair, and declares it to be the greatest school that has ever been created in the world. Each head of department and his as sistant, each foreman and assistant and their wives, and each of the 600 girl employes are to be the guests for two weeks of Mr. Patterson at the Fair-he to pay their admission to the grounds while in St.

This means that the company intends to good work, through the education to be obtained at the Fair, a total of $14,000 in

In addition to this, Mr. Patterson has decided to close down the entire plant during the first two weeks in August in order to allow all of his employes to visit the Exposition, and he further announces that the time spent at the Fair will not be deducted from the annual vacation due to those entitled to them, although they ive pay for the time while they are at the Fair.

Yesterday at 11 o'clock Mr. Patterson had the whistle blown at the factory and led together the entire 4,000 employes and delivered to them a lecture upon the great benefits to be derived from a visit to St. Louis. Among other things, President Patterson said:

"We want you all to go to the World's Pair. Two things will prevent you from -fill health or lack of money. We have been giving you some instructions about health and expect to give you more. know that they will add a decade to their lives. Now you can go to the Fair if you have the health. You may need the

TO SHOW APPRECIATION. "Now, our company wants to show its sciation of this big school—the greatest in the world-the World's Fair. "Many millions of dollars have been expended there in beautifying the grounds and in putting up the buildings for the exhibits and fully five hundred million dollars in exhibits from the various parts of the world will be shown to the thousands who daily visit the Fair.

The buildings are simply tremendous they have expended more than $550,000,000 will be gone, and with it the greatest on ity for educational advantage the world has ever seen. The Fair is there to teach you everything-manufacturing, health, schools and art, and I say, go and be taught, go as

SEE THE WHOLE WORLD.

"To go around the world would take you a good many days with all its troubles and inconveniences, but here you can practically see the whole world in a few days. We want you to go because it will benefit the company and benefit you. We want the wives to go as well as the men. because the men will only be half convinced unless their wives are convinced.

"We want you to go to the Fair because you will come back filled with new ideas. have gone to every exposition that I __ld-Philadelphia, Chicago, Paris, Antwerp and Buffalo, and I learned something at each of them.

"You want to go there and stay two reeks. We will back up our suggestion and invitation to go there by our money. We are going to send all the heads of the departments and assistant heads, and all the foremen and assistant foremen and their wives, about 400 persons, to the Fair. We will pay their railroad fare and their sleeping-car charges and we will pay their admission to the Fair grounds each day they are in St. Louis.

"The company is going to do this because it pays us to do it and we cannot afford not to do it. We want to give you se for not going. All it will cost you out there will be your hotel bill and what else you care to spend around the

'Now, we are going to do even a little ore than that. We have 600 young women in this factory, and we have decided that we want them to go to the Fair, and cause we want them to go, and want to pay the fare of these 600 women out to St. Louis and back again and their admission to the Fair while they are there time at the Fair will not be the regular vacations. They will get their regular vacation in addition to this.

NO EXTORTION AT FAIR. "Now, don't be scared about the cry of extertion.' The World's Fair in Chicago was hurt because the people in the East their railroad and sleeping car fare and Fair. I tried a room at $1.50 per day and found it very good. Everything I had to eat at the hotel was good and was served at a reasonable cost. Of course, there are present to its employes as a reward for high-priced places in St. Louis, but we faithful services and as incentive to future need not go near them if we cannot at need not go near them if we cannot af-

"Don't try to walk when you go to the Fair. Get in a roller chair. It might cost you $5 per day, but you will see five times as much as if you tried to walk, and you will not feel one-tenth as tired at night.

"And after you have gone to St. Louis and seen everything there is to see, and learned just as much as you possibly can, I want you to come back to Dayton, mad, angry, because Dayton is not making a better showing at the World's Fair. I want you to come back with the determination to force the School Board to give us manual training in our schoo's, to give us more schools and better schools and a longer school year, so as to educate your children and keep them off the streets.

"We want the coming generation in Dayton to be educated, men and women, and I feel sure that this trip to the World's Fair will open your eyes to the greater educational advantages that are ad I want you all to come live ten years longer than they would to Dayton strengthened, both physically otherwise. If they will just live up to and mentally, and if you apply to the com-the system that we are trying to teach I pany's business here the new methods and the new things you have learned at the World's Fair, we will feel amply repaid for every dollar we have expended in sending you there."

HOME FOR THE GIRLS. Mr. Patterson also announced that in the future his beautiful summer home, "Far Hills." and its beautiful spacious grounds, would be open at all times for the pleasure and benefit of all the employes of his factory, their wives and their children. He also stated that the company had leased the old Patterson homestead, with its large grounds, which will be parked at once, and turned over to the who had no home in the city, except a Another remarkable feature of the day was that from 3 o'clock in the afterno until 5:30, every person in authority at the factory attended a reception at 'Far Hills. leaving the factory entirely in the hands of men without a boss to keep an eye on them. The factory ran along just the same as though all the foremen and the heads of the department were there, and thus proved that the wonderful system at the N. C. R. works is just what is claimed for it, "automatic."

The first of these visitors to the World's Fair will arrive in St. Louis Monday and they will continue to come right along until every one at the factory has spent at least one week at the Fair. The greater portion of them, however, will be in St. Louis between August 1 and August 15, when special trains will be run from Day ton to accommodate them. NOT A CHARITY WORK.

In discussing this latest generosity towards his employes, Mr. Patterson said that he did not look upon this work as a charity; in fact, it is not a charity, he said. "A great many persons ask us about our welfare work, and why we do it. We do it because it is right and because it pays. We believe that in doing good for our people, we are raising the stendard of workmanship and the standard of moral in the neighborhood surrounding our plant Some persons ask, What is welfare work? Welfare work is capital and labor working together for the mutual benefit of each other, and when capital and labor gets behind the wheel of progress, you can bet that it goes right straight ahead. but when they pull opposite to each other then both are the losers. "As I said, we do welfare work because it pays us to do so. It is a sort of profitable philanthropy you might say. By it we are enabled to pay just as high a wage as any other factory in the world and to add to it a small per cent which goes to

At a very small cost, we are enabled to rooms, lunches at cost, provide suitable meeting rooms for them, allow them to hear the best lecturers, provide recreation grounds for the men and women and gardens for the boys to work in so as to keep them out of mischief.

"Through its influence, we have been able to beautify the entire surroundings of the factory, the home, and the streets ples of landscape gardening. We have formed mothers' clubs and taught them got up a story about eggs costing Ec how to care for their young. We have Grand Tower, Ill., July 2.—Calumet down at 5 can be and such tommy-rot as that, and it kindergarten schools to teach the little a. m. General Abbott down at 7:40 a. m. J. R.

and dancing schools to teach the young women to become good housewives, and through our welfare leagues, we intend to have manual training in the schools so that the boys may be taught to work with their hands and so that we may be enabled to always have growing up an intelligent class of boys whom we can develop into mechanical experts. And we want the girls to know just as much as the boys, so that when they decide to marry, they may be the equals of their husbands.

HOW THE SYSTEM PAYS. "And you ask how this pays. Why. it makes our men work not only with their hands but with their brains. It makes them aim higher, and aiming higher, they produce better work, and in that way we school in the world. I only regret that

We have cooking, sewing, music | our women. They are with us, heart and soul. They work for our interests as well as their own, and in that, you find capital and labor working together for the mutual benefit of each other.

"That is why I intend to send my people to the World's Fair. I say my people, because we are all one, a united, happy family I want them to see the best the world has produced. I want them to learn everything they possibly can learn. I believe that a visit to the St. Louis Fair will do more for us than anything else that could be suggested. I know we will be fully repaid for everything we do by the increased intelligence that will come to our workmen through the education they will receive at the World's Fair. which, to me, is the greatest and grandest are paid for what we do for our men and it will so soon pass away."

ACCEPTANCE BY FRANCIS.

Gift to Exposition Is the Only Bronze Statue on Grounds, and Was Designed by Missouri Girl.

Director of Works Taylor was the cen tral figure and the speaker of the day yesterday at the temperance celebration at the World's Fair when the drinking fountain erected by the W. C. T. U. on the Plaza St. Louis was dedicated and presented to the Exposition. The exercises were opened with prayer by the Reverend

W. B. Palmer.

After the invocation, Mrs. F. H. Ingalis. on behalf of the W. C. T. U., made the presentation speech, thanking the officials of the Exposition for their support and sympathy in the movement. President Francis accepted the fountain in a neat speech lauding the genius of the Missouri girl who designed it.

Other speakers were Mrs. Anna Norton Fields of Mexico, representing the world's W. C. T. U. Mrs. Clara C. Hoffman of Louis, the State president; Mrs. Carrie C. Stokes, Dexter, Mo.; Mrs. O. R. Lake of St. Louis, and Director of Works

Miss Elsie Ward, a native of Missouri, now residing in New York, is the designer of the fountain. It is the only bronze statue on the grounds, and supplies for water from a large number of faucets. PAYS TRIBUTE.

Director of Works Taylor in his speech paid tribute to the Commission of Architects who had designed the Fair and spoke of the high purpose of the W. C. T. U. and the triumph achieved in the fountain which they had erected. He said, in

"We stand here under the maples in the center of the greatest exposition that has been erected by man. We look around us to the right and to the left, and on a

to the right and to the left, and on a beautiful plain have been reared the white palaces which now contain the treasures and products of the earth. We look to the south, and on vonden hill towers an Aladin's structure devoted to the muses. Extending from either side, the Terrace of the States has been formed, in the recess of which are enshrined the spirits of fourtienen of the greatest States of our Union. At the extremities of the Terrace pagodas arise to make fitting terminals to this majestic circle.

"From this crown of the hilltops, the waters of the fountain spring forth and with a roar and a rush tumble into the vast basin below. The broad avenues rediate from what we might call the signal stations on the hilltop, and these radiating lines bordered by the majestic palaces, with their gardens now in their glory, form a design of order, of balance and of sympathy. Was this by chance? No. Was this the thought of anight? No. It's the result of a combination of forces, the result of thought and study and application by the able architests that constituted the honorable commission that was appointed to design; it was not formed in a moment; it was formed by work, by thought, which have been continuous.

"And now we again look around us and our eyes fall upon this gem that rests under the maples; we see a bronze fountain that has been designed by one of our sisters in the arts. This young woman (Elsie Ward) brings honor to herself and adds honor to her sex'by her ability expressed in this her work.

"But this work expresses more than the

MORE THAN SKILL.

"But this work expresses more than the artist's skill. It expresses and shows an outward token offered by the good women of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to all the visitors to this great Fair; to all the world it is a symbol in bronze manifesting the purity of their thoughts; yes, the purity of their teachings. It is not as large and as lofty as the palaces that surround us; it is not as expensive az the gardens beyond, but by its significance, by the teachings it represents, by the thoughts and hopes that are cost in this hard and polished bronze, this bit of art is as grand and as noble as the towering dome or the sculptured hall, the work of able men.

"Personally, I am not a prophet to predict the era of total abstinence. Neither am I high priest in the council of these people to charm new converts to this faith and fold, but when it comes to the question of temperance. I say 'On with the good work; the fiend of intemperance may not be torn from the throne, but with an army of good women surrounding his domain, ever watchful, ever vigilant always working, his power will be confined and his conquests few and far between, and for the leaders of this army there can be none better, none more loyal and none with more heart in the struggle and the fight than the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union." artist's skill. It expresses and shows an
